Beacon Capital Management

When Beacon sought a technology partner capable of supporting rapid growth and strengthening its cybersecurity posture, a trusted referral led them to LBMC Technology Solutions. “We were referred to LBMC by a former employee who spoke highly of Dave Roberts’ exceptional reputation and deep industry knowledge,” shared Ben Christy.

Before partnering with LBMC Tech, Beacon relied on a combination of in house personnel and a third party IT vendor—an approach that struggled to keep pace with their evolving needs. “It became apparent they couldn’t keep up with Beacon’s growth,” Christy said. “We faced security and efficiency challenges that impacted our day to day operations.

Since the partnership began, the improvements have been both strategic and transformational. “Dave’s professionalism and care for our team are quite evident,” Christy noted. “He applied the strategy and insight needed to shore up gaps in our technology foundation.”

One major advantage was eliminating unnecessary, mismatched systems. “Dave helped us drop some of the ‘Frankenstein’ software mix matches we didn’t need,” Christy explained. “He and his team put systems in place—especially on the cybersecurity side—that allow Beacon’s leadership to rest well at night.”

According to Christy, the impact goes beyond technology fixes. “Having the right technology partner makes a big difference for a company and its leadership. Dave continues to learn more about Beacon, giving us a customized approach tailored to our needs.”

When asked if he would recommend LBMC Technology Solutions, Christy didn’t hesitate: “Absolutely. The personalized, thoughtful approach is what sets them apart.”
